Mt. Hermon Potato Crop Yields 359.8 Bushels To Acre

Gill Tuesday took high honors in potato yields this season from Deerfield, although the down river town still holds the distinction of having qualified more members for the 300-bushel club. An acre of the Mt. Hermon school farm crop, raised under the direction of Carroll Rikert was officially judged on Tuesday by Joseph H. Putnam, county extension service agent.

The yield was 359.8 bushels of Green Mountain of which only 12.6 bushels were seconds and less than two bushels were culls. This was about 50 bushels better than the best previous test acre dug this year and compares favorably with the title holders last year who were blessed with exceptional conditions.

Altogether Mount Hermon planted eight acres of potatoes this year on land some had said was unfit for such a crop. The tract lies west of the Gill road and south of the school. Improved farm machinery played an important part in producing the yield. The crop will be consumed in the school.

Mount Hermon was the first Gill farm to qualify for the club this year, as compared with three Deerfield farms already on the list. However, at least two more Gill farms and one in Deerfield are confident of exceeding the requirement when tests are made in the next two weeks.

Hospital Board Entertained

The Northfield Branch of the Franklin County Hospital Board of organized work was delightfully entertained on Columbus Day at a luncheon given by the Chairman, Mrs. W. G. Webber at her home.

After a merry hour spent around the table the company adjourned to the parlor for business. A report was given of last year's accomplishments and plans formulated for the coming year.

Two valuable members, Mrs. F. H. Montague and Mrs. Charles Leach resigned, because of pressure. The members of other interests for the ensuing year are: Mrs. W. G. Webber, chairman; Mrs. Arthur Bolton; Mrs. J. W. Field, Mrs. E. S. Frary, Mrs. Richard Holton, Mrs. E. F. Howard, Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. Earl Lilly, Mrs. H. A. Lewis, Mrs. Willis Parker, Mrs. C. M. Steadler, Mrs. W. P. Stanley, Miss Shirley Towne, Mrs. N. P. Wood, Mrs. A. G. Moody, honorary member.

On Thursday of this week the town schools will be visited by members when the children will be told of the hospital work and asked to contribute fruit or vegetables from their gardens. Any family not connected with the schools having fruit, vegetables, jellies or canned fruit to spare will please notify any member of the committee and these contributions will be called for. The Hospital is holding a tag day on Saturday October 24 in Greenfield. Your committee, instead of this will hold a card party on the afternoon of Saturday, October 24 in Alexander Hall under the management of Mrs. F. H. Montague. Playing begins at 2.30 p.m., tickets 25 cents. During the past year the town has responded splendidly to the call of the Committee, and your co-operation is most earnestly solicited for the ensuing year. This is your hospital, and like all institutions of this kind, it has many wants which Northfield can help supply.

Grange Holds Its Fair

The Grange Fair opened last Friday and continued through Saturday in the town hall. There was a splendid exhibit of vegetables, fruit, flowers, canned goods, fancy work and miscellaneous entries. Also a number of splendid exhibits of our local merchants.

Mr. George Kidder had the affair in charge and did his utmost to make it a success.

Whitney—Blood

A pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Baptist Church in Turners Falls when Miss Ruth Louise Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Whitney of Mount Hermon became the bride of John Monroe Blood of Greenfield, son of Herbert Blood of Windsor, Vt. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. B. Jamison, pastor of the church, the double ring ceremony being used. Mrs. George Pfersch played the bride march from Lohengrin. Mrs. W. F. Coburn sang, "God Make Thee Mine." The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Alice M. Whitney and the best man was Leonard M. Cairnes of Greenfield.

The ushers were Thomas J. Lowell, George Pfersch and Charles H. Keyes. The bride wore a gown of white duchess satin, with tulle veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of "White Kellarmey roses and lilies of the valley."

The maid of honor wore coral pink chiffon with picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill Roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at Mount Hermon a buffet lunch was served. Those serving being girls from the bride's Sunday school class. The Misses Elsie Kennedy, Dorothy Porter, Barbetta Davis and Janet Jillson.

Both the home and the church was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and fall flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Blood left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Thousand Islands, and after Nov. 1st will be at home at Fairview Terrace, Greenfield.

The bride's going away gown was boned suit with hat to match Fox fur gift of the groom. Brides gift to maid of honor was a string of crystal and gold beads, to the organist, pearl brooch and to the soloist, pearl beads. Groom's gift to the best man was pen and pencil set and to the ushers silk ties.

The large number of beautiful gifts received testified the high esteem in which both bride and groom were held. The bride is a graduate of Turners Falls High School and Greenfield Business School and was employed at the Office of Register of Deeds at Greenfield. Groom is a graduate of the Southamptown School and is in the Insurance Business in Greenfield with an office in the Davenport Block.

Parker, and Miss Dorothy Parker, Boston, Mass., Mrs. Walter Gross, Bangor, Maine, Miss Clara Hanson and Harry Hanson, Fredericton, New Brunswick, Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Whitney, Westminster, Mass. and Mrs. Everett Whitney, Granby, Mass.

Fortnightly Has Its First Regular Session

The first regular meeting of the Fortnightly Club of Northfield was held at Alexander Hall on Friday afternoon October 9. ## State-Wide Police Campaign

The four months' state wide police campaign against the eight predominant causes of serious automobile accidents apparently produced a reduction of 4.1 per cent in fatal accidents from the corresponding period a year ago, the Governor's committee on street and highway safety announced in making public today for the first time the complete returns for the entire four months of the drive. The reduction is all the more commendable in the opinion of the Governor's committee when consideration is given to the fact that it was affected in a fiscal year which as a whole has showed an increase of 1.01 per cent in fatalities to date.

The total number of deaths for the state for the fiscal year to date stands at 617, an increase of over the 610 fatalities reported for the same period a year ago. In the four months of June, July, August and September just passed, during which the anti-accident campaign was in full swing, there were 278 deaths, which is a reduction of 12 from the 290 fatalities occurring during the corresponding period last year.

Both pleaded guilty.

Yarmack and Englehardt were arrested Tuesday by Sgt. James J. Burns and Manning said in court Thursday the two had started a steam roller which was being used on the road construction in Gill and would not hit some obstacle just as it neared an embankment. He said the damage was only slight but thought something should be done to the two with "modern ideas" and asked the judge to impose a suspended sentence. Englehardt is on parole from the Shirley school.

Cranberries In Warwick

Cranberries are found probably everywhere in Warwick, growing wild. These are noted as very plentiful in the Williams Meadow, west part of town in heart of land area from which State Forestry propaganda would crowd off people, farmers, homes and farms so as to raise trees not needed and prevent the raising of food sorely needed in Massachusetts. A large area might be made into a bog in east part of town toward Gale Mill if the "common" people were given credit here, "preferred" people get in the cities. On the Vance place about three bushels of berries have been picked, on the Shephardson two bushels, and on the Goldsberry about three bushels. The "Baptizing" Pond on the latter not far from the former Baptist Church (now Library) had some, the Lilly Pond, a bottomless bog had more but most were found on bog a short distance from house. Berries plentiful have been found on the Town Forest land and the Siddons place.

EDITORIAL

"Our people are beginning to realize that our burden of taxation, state and national, is becoming almost unbearable. The annual cost of Government, Federal, State and local, rose from $3,000,000,000 in 1913 to $12,000,000,000 in 1927 and it is now rapidly approaching $15,000,000,000 a year.

Paragraphs from the day's news indicate that the tax question is an outstanding issue from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Harry F. Long, Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation of Massachusetts, predicts that the 1932 tax bill for that state will increase $15,000,000. He says that Massachusetts taxes have increased 122 per cent in the last 15 years.

Press reports from Chicago state that more than $3,000,000,000 worth of real estate in Cook County, Illinois, owned by 396,524 individuals, will be placed on the books for sale by the county treasurer because of nonpayment of 1929 taxes. Injunctions or stays granted pending hearings of protest will prevent the bulk of the property from being auctioned off at this time, however.

In Oregon, the people are not only struggling with a heavy property tax but they are also loaded with a state income tax which takes a straight five per cent of their income and also an intangibles tax which takes eight per cent of any income from money, bonds, mortgages, etc.

The foregoing are merely high lights of conditions that exist in all parts of the country and are the strongest arguments that can be advanced as to why a determined stand must be made against proposals which cut still deeper into the family income via the public bond issue and taxation route.

The American Legion, at its recent convention in Detroit, gained public good will on the bonus question when it voted to make no financial demand on the next Congress, which faces the task of either greatly increasing taxes during depressed times or reducing expenses to meet the government income.

President Hoover, in a public statement thanking the Legion for its action, said that it had set an example to all political or private agencies seeking funds from the Federal treasury. He said there should be a moratorium on demands for public funds until times improve and that sectional interests should become secondary to the common welfare.

The people should demand that political or private interests, groups or associations, should refrain from asking the taxpayers for unusual expenditures at this time. Furthermore, the people should demand that Congress cut appropriations to the bone before considering tax increases which, in the last analysis, all come out of the pocket of the ultimate consumer.

Waterways advocates are now favoring a Federal bond issue of $500,000,000 to complete the system of inland waterways.

It would be difficult to think of a more imprudent time for such a development.

If waterways had ever been a success there might be some excuse for spending an additional half-billion on them, even at the present time. But in almost every case waterways have lost money, to be made up by taxation. Low water rates are not the result of cheap transportation, but of the sustaining power of the government treasury. As an example, the average cost of carrying a ton-mile of freight on the Ohio River system in 1928 was 12.4 mills. Of this the shipper paid about six mills, leaving six and one-half mills for the people to pay in taxes. The average railroad freight rate for that territory is nine mills per ton-mile—none of which is paid through subsidy, and an appreciable part of which goes to government through heavy railroad taxes.

It would seem that the supporters of waterways are less interested in the economic phase of the matter than in pushing their pet projects to a conclusion, no matter what it costs the taxpayers.

Savoy is not only one of the highest of Berkshire's hill towns, but this year it has the highest tax rate thus far reported in the state—$50. How would you like to live and own property in Savoy?

The Poet's Corner

FOR THE MOTORIST

When I am driving on a street
Where little folks I'm apt to meet
Who dash across in thoughtless play
I'll try to drive in just the way
That I would do if mine were there
Upon that crowded thoroughfare.

THE BUSY MAN

If you want a favor done
By some obliging friend
And want a promise safe and sane,
On which you may depend,
Don't go to him who always has Much leisure time to plan,
But if you want your favor done,
Just ask the busy man.

The man with leisure never has
A minute he can spare.
He's always "putting off" until
His friends are in despair.
But he whose every waking hour
Is crowded full of work,
Forgets the art of wasting time—
He cannot stop to shirk.

So—when you want a favor done
And want it right away
Go to the man who constantly Works twenty hours a day.
He'll find a moment sure, somewhere
That has no other use,
And fix you while the idle man
Is framing an excuse.

—Exchange.

"ONE LITTLE WORD OF MINE"

If any little word of mine
May make a life the brighter,
If any little song of mine
May make a heart the lighter,

God help me speak the little word,
And take my bit of singing,
And drop it in some lonely vale
To set the echoes ringing.

If any little love of mine
May make a life the sweeter,
If any little care of mine
May make a friend's the fleetier,

If any little life of mine may ease
The burden of another,
God give me love and care
and strength
To help my toiling brother.

Shoots Playmate

Another evidence of the foolishness of allowing young boys to use small firearms was illustrated this week Monday when Theodore Lesenski age 13 of Guilford was shot and killed instantly by a playmate Ernest Nadeau of Brattleboro a lad of 12 years. With two other small boys they started into the woods together to hunt and while on the expedition Nadeau accidentally pulled the trigger of his gun and the bullet passed through Lesenski's head.

Nadeau was taken to juvenile court but no decision was made in the case by Judge Orrin B. Hughes although the judge stated that it is up to parents to prevent their children from carrying guns and causing such tragedies.

Chevrolet

With the coming of the wide temperature ranges experienced at this season of the year, the motorist will find it to his advantage to have the motor retuned and adjusted according to M. D. Douglas, General Parts and Service Manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

"One of the distinct advantages of the modern automobile over its early predecessors is found in the fact that the motor today can be adjusted to give maximum performance in all seasons. A motorist who drives through the winter with a car adjusted to summer weather conditions deprives himself of much of the car's capacity for performance and needlessly increases its operating expense," Mr. Douglas said.

The carburetor should be checked, and the valves should be adjusted to prevent loss of compression. The ignition system, especially the timing, should be cleaned thoroughly and checked for proper adjustment; the proper functioning of the ignition system is essential to easy starting on cold mornings.

Other suggestions made by Mr. Douglas includes a thorough flushing out and cleaning of the cooling system; draining and flushing the crankcase and refilling with a good grade of oil. And, perhaps most important of all, the brakes should be adjusted, or, if necessary, relined.

Something New:—A new, up-to-date state approved grease dispensary has been added to the Morgan Garage, Northfield. This machine assures the customer of Accurate Measure and is the Last Word in Cleanliness. The Dispenser works under Air Pressure which forces the Grease into the Gear Boxes Without loss by spilling. A dial on the Gauge shows the exact amount of lubricant going into the car and the Customer pays only for what he actually gets. Adv. 4-24-31

OBITUARY

FLEMING H. REVELL

Relatives and friends in Northfield received the sad intelligence on Sunday last October 11th of the passing away in death of Mr. Fleming H. Revell—a trustee of the Northfield Schools and a co-worker of the late Dwight L. Moody.

Mr. Revell died in St. John's Hospital in Yonkers, N. Y., at the age of 81 years. He had suffered a fall at his home at Riverdale and was removed to the hospital for treatment where he died.

He was the head of the large publishing business of the Fleming H. Revell Company which he founded and which grew to be of national importance in the publishing of religious books and literature with headquarters in New York city. In addition to his publishing interests he was a member of the New York Life Insurance Company, Treasurer of the American Mission to Lepers, and trustee of the Northfield Schools. He was a member of the Riverdale Presbyterian church and a member of many religious and philanthropic organizations. His wife died but a few years ago and the beautiful and appreciated chimes in Sage Chapel were given by him as a memorial in honor of their Jubilee wedding anniversary. He also purchased the old homestead of Dwight L. Moody, now called "The Birthplace" and presented it to the Northfield Schools. He was much loved and esteemed in this town and always had a warm interest in the affairs of Northfield. During the past summer he was a guest of his niece, Mrs. A. P. Fitt at her home here and during his stay made a visit to The Herald plant and evinced much interest in its equipment. Mr. Revell was the younger brother of Mrs. Dwight L. Moody and won the admiration and support of Mr. Moody in his business endeavors.

Mr. Revell leaves one son, Fleming H. Revell Jr., of Riverdale, and a daughter, Mrs. Max Shoop of Paris. The funeral was held at the Riverdale Presbyterian Church on Thursday afternoon and was attended by many relatives from Northfield.

MRS. NORMAN J. MacGAFFIN

After a long illness the earthly life of Ruth Whittle, wife of Norman J. MacGaffin and sister of Mrs. William Revell Moody, ended peacefully at her home in New Rochelle, N. Y., Thursday afternoon, October 9. Funeral services were held at the Homestead East Northfield, Saturday, October 10 at 2:00 p.m., and burial was in Center Cemetery.

Rev. W. W. Coe officiated. W. R. Moody offered prayer. A chorus under the leadership of Mrs. S. E. Walker sang.

Mrs. MacGaffin was born in Chicago in 1882, the daughter of D. A. Whittle, evangelist, and Abigail Hanson Whittle. Major Whittle came to Northfield in 1897 to reside and he was closely associated with D. L. Moody in evangelistic work.

Mrs. MacGaffin was the wife of Norman J. MacGaffin of the Corporation Trust company of New York. Mrs. MacGaffin is survived by her husband and two children, John and Mary Margaret and one sister, Mrs. William R. Moody.

Automobile Campaign Is Extended

With the approval and co-operation of Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Morgan T. Ryan, State Police, Metropolitan District Police, and the local police, the state-wide campaign against the eight predominating causes of serious accidents will be extended through the months of October and November in combination with the registrar's own intensive drive against negligent motorists operating with defective lights and brakes, the Governor's committee on street and highway safety announced recently.

The double campaign, both the registrar and the Governor's committee are pointing out to the police heads who will be responsible for its success, is in no way to be taken as a mere drive to harass the great bulk of law abiding motorists, but rather as an intensive effort to rid the highways of the comparatively small group of dangerous drivers which the registrar's own personal observations and the Governor's committee campaign results have shown to be responsible for the great majority of highway accidents.

Decision to extend the campaign through October and November is based on the known fact that these two months are the peak danger months of the year, and that the police set-up organized last June and now functioning smoothly can place at the immediate disposal of the registrar some 7,000 city, town, state and metropolitan police officers in addition to the registry's own 185 inspectors.

AT MOUNT HERMON

The fall season of athletics is now well under way. On Thursday the first of the cross-country races takes place when the 2 1-2 mile race begins at 4.30. The football season began last Monday when the seniors defeated the sophomores 14-0, and the juniors won from the freshmen 2-0. In soccer the juniors beat the freshmen 2-0, and the seniors and sophomores were tied at 3 each. Monday the seniors played the freshmen in football, and the juniors the sophomores. In soccer the opposing sides are the same as in football.

The lineup in football for the seniors was: Mayshark and W. A. Fry, ends; Eastman W. and Linke, tackles; Farevaag and Galat, guards; Page, center; H. Finefrock qb.; K. Finefrock, Power, and Capt. Allan, backs. The freshmen played as follows: Carr and Farnum, ends; Lahr and Schaefer, tackles; Beverstock and Batty, guards; Capt. Pray, center; MacPherson, qb.; Thompson, Mape, and Healey, backs.

Juniors: Capt. Conrad and Andrews, ends; W. C. Johnson and Butterfield, tackles; Campbell and R. Eastman, guards; Page C., center; Fry, center; Eigner, Kay, and Maurovich, backs. For the sophomores, Eggleton and Thompson D. B., ends; Krell and Bohl, tackles; Larkin and Eminian, guards; Smith, center; Miller J., qb.; Jones V., Hanson J., and Ashute, backs.

Referee, Coach Forslund; Field Judge, Crucius; Head linesman, Ross.

Announcement was made by Dr. Henry F. Cutler, principal, that the regular fall sacred concert will be omitted this year. Mr. Phillips, '98, the new director, will train the school for the sacred concert next June.

Saturday night Mr. Paul Shirley of Boston gave a recital in Camp Hall on the viola d'amour which was much appreciated by the audience.

The speaker at last Sunday services was Hugh J. C. Mackarness of England. At the close of the Vesper service Mrs. Dorothy Birchard Mulrooney, organist of the Trinity Methodist Church of Springfield, gave a short organ recital. Besides playing the organ for the church and broadcasting, Mrs. Mulrooney plays the Carillon bells in Springfield.

At Ford Cottage, the home of the principal, an informal gathering was held last Friday to listen to Mr. Horace Morse, head of the History department, who with Mrs. Morse, spent last summer in the Holy Land, Egypt, and Greece. Prof. Morse gave a most interesting account of his experiences of his travels.

Mrs. Dorothy Birchard Mulrooney, of Springfield, Mass., gave an organ recital at Memorial Chapel, Mount Hermon School on Sunday Afternoon, October 11, to an appreciated and music loving audience.

Her numbers were: The Sanctus, (Messe Solennelle) by Gounod; Largo, (New World Symphony), by Dvorak; In Moonlight, by Kinder; The Lost Chord, by Sullivan; Angelus, by Massenet; "March," from Ninth Symphony, by Beethoven; Chime Hymn—"Now the Day is Over", by Barnby.

AT THE SEMINARY

On Sunday evening, October 11, a most enjoyable hour of music was held in Sage Chapel when Paul Shirley, Viola d'Amour virtuoso, gave a recital. He was accompanied most effectively on the piano by Miss Eleanor Fournier. The viola d'amour is one of the ancestors of the present day violin, a very rare old instrument with insuperable technical difficulties.

Those who had the privilege of hearing Mr. Shirley will long remember the expressive beauty and depth of tone and feeling which he drew forth from his beloved viol. Mr. Shirley played a number of his own compositions which were exquisitely lovely. The program was all the more enjoyable because of the charming, vivacious personality of the artist and his interpretive comments on the various selections.

Scholarship Honor pupils for the last spring term of the Northfield Seminary were made public Monday by the registrar, Miss E. Kingsbury. Of outstanding merit was the record of Helen Goodwin of Hollis, N. H., a blind girl, who has won honors every term. The 23 highest scholarship records make up the honor students.

Those now in school who won the distinction follow: Miriam Booth, daughter of Dr. Ravi-Booth of Old Bennington, who founded Bennington College for Girls, to be opened next year; Catherine DeCarlo, Yonkers, N. Y.; Julia DeMane, New York City; Dorcas Dixon, North Rochester, N. H.; Marjorie Glenn, Wooster, O.; Helen Goodwin, Hollis, N. H.; Elizabeth Green, Caledonia, N. Y.; Elinor Guy, Longmeadow, Mass.; Faye Hart, Bristol, Conn.; Ellen Newton, New York City; Muriel Parker, East Northfield; Frances Pond, New York City; Hazel Sundt, Waterford, Conn.; Jane Whitbread, Larchmont, New York.

Those on the list not in school this term: Lucia Allen, Mystic, Conn.; Marjorie Avery, Brockton, Mass.; Elsie Church, Uncasville, Conn.; Dorothy Farr, Claremont, N. H.; Ethel Holland, Amsterdam, N. Y.; Pauline Landes, Northfield, Mass.; Jane Lucas, Wooster, O.; Wilma Nelson, Ryegate, Vt.; and Dorothy Williams, Worcester, Mass.

The speaker last Sunday in the chapel was the Rev. Arthur C. Wheeler of White Plains, N. Y.

Hugh J. C. Mackarness, an English lecturer on literary subjects, spoke in chapel last Saturday, and in the evening addressed the Forum and Bibliophile societies at the home of Miss Wilson, the principal.

The Alumnae Council of the Northfield Seminary has been holding its regular fall business meeting this past week end. Saturday the members visited classes and also held appointments with many of the students who were interested in talking about different departments of work. Sunday afternoon the council met the faculty at a tea at the home of the principal, Miss Myra B. Wilson.

The members of the council who attended follow: Miss Fannie Hatch, alumnae secretary; President Belle Polhemus, New York City, dietetics; Miss Daisy B. Treen, Boston, cafeteria work; Miss Harriet Broad, Brookline, church work; Lucy Curtis, Bridgeport, education; Miss Filena Sheldon, New York City, library; Mabel S. Hastings, Boston, commercial education; Miss Annie Townsend, Princeton, N. J., education; Nellie Starr, Albany, executive secretary; Frances Davis, Philadelphia, Y. W. C. A.; Miss Bernice Webster, New York City, art; and Marie Jensen, Hartford, religious education.

The members of the Alumnae Council, departed Monday for their various homes. Of particular importance was the visit of Miss Florence Marshall, '95, and Miss Helen Livingstone, '00, both of New York City, important leaders in school work, who spent considerable time talking with both students and faculty concerning school problems.

Miss Marshall founded the Manhattan Industrial School for Girls in New York City, of which she is the Director. She started the industrial education movement for girls in this country, 20 years ago, and at one time was sent to investigate industrial education in Europe by President Wilson. Miss Livingstone is in the same field of work, being the Principal of the Hebrew Technical High School for Girls in New York City.

Strong support was given by the alumnae counsellors of the Student Aid Society, an organization whose function is to aid Seminary students in the form of loans. Since the organization of this institution in 1886, $140,000 has been distributed, and almost 50 per cent has been paid back. The officers are: Mrs. A. C. Moody, president, Mrs. J. J. Estey, Brattleboro, treasurer, and Mrs. Elliott Speer, East Northfield, Assistant.

Northfield Bouts

Bill Dalton of Northfield was referee, Ed Bistrick was time keeper and Joe Field announcer.

The next bout will be next Monday evening when Cyclone Clark will meet Francis Trudeau. Ed Scoble will meet Joe Stewart; Gypsy Schlies will meet Leroy McQuigan and the main bout Leroy Dresser against H. C. Smith the light weight champion of Vermont.

Receipts from the gasoline tax for September will be $1,572,156, as compared with $1,796,794 in August, according to estimate of Henry F. Long, state tax commissioner of Massachusetts.

Getting along to October 16 without a furnace fire is something about which is to brag. It is also very satisfactory to those who don't feel like spending too much money for fuel or those who don't get much of a kick in sifting ashes. The temperature during September and October has been almost too good to be true, which fact proves again that the world's all right.

The Pennsylvania board of game, commissioners has been investigating both the starling and the sparrow and reports:—

"Practically every stomach of the starlings and sparrows taken for investigation by the agents of the board was gorged with Japanese beetles, Mexican bean beetles, striped cucumber beetles and the imported willow leaf beetle, four of the worst insect pests known to science." And so the sparrow and the starling have been found of real benefit to the country.

Small Game Season
Opens October 20th

The local open season on small game is from Oct. 20 to Nov. 29, inclusive. The number of hunting licenses taken out in this locality is below the average. Notwithstanding that there is said to be much game hereabouts. The woods are full of gray squirrels and they are very tame.
Many hunters do not shoot these animals. There also are many pheasants in the local covers. Partridges may be shot this fall after an extended closed season. They also are reported to be quite plentiful. The season has been favorable for the hatching and rearing of game birds.

The woodcock season ends Nov. 19,
the bag limit is four daily. Partridge, limit, three in a day and fifteen for the season; pheasants, male only, two in a day, six for the season; gray squirrels, five in a day, fifteen for the season. The open season on hares and rabbits is from Oct. 20 to Feb.
15, daily bag limit, five rabbits, two hares. The coon season ends March first, season bag limit twenty.

The open deer season is from December 1 to December 17, one deer to be taken, shotgun only to be used.
Sunday hunting and entering upon posted land is prohibited. Discharge of firearms within fifty yards of any state highway or paved road is for-bidden. All sportsmen are urged to obey the regulations and to exercise care while in the quest of game.

Old Bridge Again
Damaged By Fire

Firemen extinguished a blaze in the Montague City bridge Monday. The old wooden structure over the Connecticut river was considerably damaged, timbers and a portion of the floor on the up-stream side being burned. Fire was discovered in the middle span about 1.45 o'clock, believed to have originated from a carelessly thrown cigaret. It had gained good headway, fanned by a brisk breeze. It was brought quickly under control by use of chemicals.

This old covered county bridge has had several similar fires in recent years and each time prompt action on the part of the firemen has saved the structure although this one may have weakened it if charred timbers are any indication. Traffic was resumed after being held up about half an hour.

Plans are practically completed for one of the largest social gatherings of the year when the ex-service and mil-uniform. Northfield folks are cordially invited.

"Is it not pleasant," said the guest,
"to live in the country and get up in the soft, cool air of the morning?"
"Those sentiments," admonished Farmer Cornstossel, "are not going to help the place along. If we waited for a cool morning nobody'd ever get up."

Pat was sick in a hospital ward with bronchitis. The doctor inquired:
"Do you raise anything when you cough?"

Pat looked puzzled, but shook his head. The doctor passed on down the ward. On his return Pat beckoned to him, and said:
"Doctor, I've been thinking, and every time I coughs I raises me left leg."

WANTED A FRIEND

Everyone should aspire to be a friend. In an ideal society, is a progressive or perfect state of living, what each receives must be less than he ultimately gives, for thus only does he help promote the general welfare. When the world is wholly converted from injustice to justice, and this reigns over all interests, peace and prosperity shall be in our midst, in country and village and city; and then when the world is transformed from justice into love, the millennium shall have come. Then shall we be like the Christ and shall see him as he is in a life at one with him. Men shall be giving more than they ask of the world, and we may progress forever and forever, and the footfall shall be universal.

Because God is the great Friend of men He gives, and if He gave not to His creatures who should lay claim to life! The Christ was exemplary in deeds of helpfulness, he served human want, and determined the Christian motive of life as love, its end service.

If men simply receive from the God of heaven, the givers shall not be on earth; if men simply follow, the leaders shall drop to the rear; if men simply try to have justice done to them, justice shall die; if men simply try to be just, love shall not live and men themselves shall fail to advance.

To bring upon our earth the ideal state of good, each must present himself in a principle of self-sacrifice. Each must offer something of his life. This is good augmented; thus does it become sovereign in blessing. The law must extend to the tramp, must claim the recognition of the beggar. Each of these must become a friend of men and the giver unto life in some way. Broadly does it appeal to us, requiring us to develop in ourselves that spirit of helpfulness which relates us in life and deed to God.

In the character of friend there is the necessary element of steadfastness, of patience, of faithfulness that shall not be turned aside by trifles. How many have we thought to be friends who have not been in verity!

That was a true friendship between Pitt and Wilberforce when others of the companions of the latter dropped him because of a life choice he made, and Pitt said that nothing could alter their relations; he was sure Wilberforce would do only what was right. The most coveted friend of the vicar in the new parish to which George MacDonald introduced him was he to whom he the vicar might be of most use. It was said of Archbishop Cranmer that the way to have him most certainly as one's friend was to do him an unkindness. There is the test of character; there is the manifestation of the Christlikeness of a human heart.

Each household, each society, each community ought to be bound together by ties virtually unbreakable by other than death. We grow strong by what we overcome. Doing an unpleasant duty discharges it and the soul is left free in kindness. Taking the burden of a misunderstanding to our neighbor in openness is to have it lifted and lightened. Going unto him and confessing our wrong is to redeem him and ourselves together. We are not always disposed to do it, maybe. Anna Robertson Brown thinks that we may make friends in eternity, but that we shall not esteem them so much as those who have aspired and struggled with us here, who have shared our joy and pain, "who have watched us wistfully over mountain, wilderness and sea, who have quarrelled with us and kissed us again, who have loved us with tenderness, and who have been faithful to us even unto death."

There should be time for the cultivation of friendship. It may be in more than our leisure hours. In business even there may be carried that fairness, that courteousness of manner, and that intention of service, which shall win the good will of those who come and go at the counters of trade. But we shall fail of the best fellowship and miss the purest joys of being unless, apart from the noises that drown the softer tones of our voice, we speak with each other and make our words open doors through which soul may pass to soul and sit sociably. The subjects of conversation are so many! We learn our mutual likes. We live over the pleasant phases of our life again and again. We enjoy by sharing, we keep by giving. Telling a thing fixes it in our mind and at the same time imparts it to another. The book we have read is a companion we may introduce, or may find it a mutual acquaintance. The land we have travelled delights us again in taking an interested one along the bypaths of memory, and there is added the pleasure of a friend. Through literature have some of the most precious friendships been formed, for here is the realm of life itself. In the church where worship, the soul is informed by a truth which is received in fraternity, and in the church we may cultivate the divinest friendships, those with which we may find the dearest fellowships outside of home, those on which shines a light understood in oneness of faith and hope and love.

Death To Rats

Joining with the witches and goblins in their annual celebration on Halloween this year will be myriads of dead rats, if the plans of E. M. Mills, rodent control specialist of the federal government, are carried out. With approximately 10,000 farmers and home owners in every part of Massachusetts joining in the fight against rats, the chances of a rat's living through the bombardment of rat bait on the evening of October seem very slight.

In the state-wide campaign against rats, which is being conducted under the direction of Mr. Mills, baits made of meat, fish, and cereal and doped with red squill are being manufactured in large quantities and sold below cost. The county extension services are agencies for these special baits, and are taking orders from now until October 23. On October 30, the baits will be distributed in practically every town in the state, so that nobody who orders bait will have to travel very far to receive his allotment.

The baits are of three different kinds so that they will appeal to the tastes of all rats. The rat who does not like meat can have his choice of fish and cereal. All of the baits are doped with red squill powder, which is made from a plant that looks much like an onion. Red squill is deadly poison to rats and mice, and they seem to like its taste, but it is harmless to other animals. Even though a dog, for example, should eat food with red squill in it, it would only make him sick, and he would vomit the red squill out of his system. The rat cannot vomit, and so the red squill has nothing to interfere with its work. Usually it kills the rat in less than two days' time.

A charge of 50 cents is made for the three cans of bait, which is much less than the same amount of bait would cost if it was purchased in small lots and made at home. The money for the baits should accompany orders sent to the county extension offices.

The bait may be secured from the following centers in Franklin County: Bernardston, Wyatt's Store; Erving, Erving School House; Gill, Paul's Store; Millers Falls, Potter Grain Store; Northfield, Town Hall, A. Mattoon; Orange, Town Hall, W. A. Johnson; Warwick, G. E. Witherell's.

WORTHWHILE PREACHMENTS

Heartening A Discouraged World

Things look dark for the world. What with revolutions all around the earth, with financial disaster threatening the oldest and steadiest nations, with unemployment and distress universal, and with discontent everywhere, the present seems to be a period of more general gloom than living men have ever before known. Every day produces new discussions of the subject, and suggested remedies. This is one hopeful aspect of the case. More and better brains are dealing with the present depression than ever before considered a kindred calamity.

Strangely little is being said or done, however, in the realm of sustaining people's spirits through a hard time. All of our concern seems to be for their bodies.

Clearly, though, an earlier need and a continuing need is for putting heart into a fearful and discouraged generation. To make strong and hopeful the spirits of the people is the first of all steps toward a successful emergence from a perilous period. The state of public ideals is more important than the condition of the banks.

Here we come to the unique mission of the Christian church, with her message of courage, comfort and peace! In this emergency only the church's good news can lift up the hearts that are cast down.

If people are to be inspired by considerations that outweigh material calamities the church must inspire them. If society is to be held steadfast to the old integrities of character the church must hold them.

If men are to be kept from despair and destructiveness the church has the word that will keep them.

If the social order is to progress toward a more brotherly and more equitable operation, instead of plunging into accentuated class strife, the church must enunciate the principles of brotherhood and justice.

Without entering at all into a discussion of the vast and pressing problems that squarely confront the whole world I wish merely to suggest that this is obviously the opportunity of the Christian church to speak, clearly and constantly, her Master's word of counsel and comfort. Week by week every pulpit in the land should find place for some message that will put courage and confidence into hearers who are bearing unusual burdens. All sorts of anti-Christian and anti-social agencies are showing themselves quick and resourceful in utilizing the worldwide depressions for their propaganda purposes. Shall the church be less efficient?

She may not cry "Peace! Peace!" when there is no peace, but she may and should bring to bear all her mighty resources to stabilize panicky thinking, to discover a divine design in this upheaval, and to help men and women to stand fast by the qualities of character which should survive all changes of condition.

The church has the word for the hour. If she speaks it, bruised and baffled hearts will throng to her temples to learn life's deeper lessons in the light of eternity.

"Comfort ye, comfort ye my people," saith the Lord. — William T. Ellis, L. L. D., Swarthmore, Pa., in Record of Christian Work.

SNOW ON MT. WASHINGTON

(Portland Press Herald)

Mt. Washington's peak is now covered with snow. On any clear morning it can be plainly seen from Portland. It affords a beautiful sight as it towers above the neighboring peaks and reflects the bright sunshine from its ermine crown.

As we have said before this is the ideal time to visit Maine and make a trip through the White mountains. The foliage following the first frosts of autumn, is just beginning to assume the gorgeous colorings. From every hilltop wonderful views may be had across valleys gay with scarlet, brown and green carpets, with a gem of a lake reflecting the glorious picture. The roads leading to these marvelous scenes were never in better condition than they are at present. Beginning at Portland and extending for a hundred miles through the mountains there is a succession of the kind of pictures Nature paints which are so beautiful they defy description.

Mt. Washington's crest will probably be unchanged for several months but the glorious foliage will not be long on exhibition. Everyone should plan to make this autumn visit to Maine while the scenery is at its best.

Smile and the world smiles with you, Kick and you kick alone; But the cheerful grin will let you in Where the knocker is never known.

Sir Wilfred Grenfell Visits Northfield

Sir Wilfred Grenfell, who has just returned from an expedition which carried him to the furthest tip of Labrador, gave an illustrated lecture of his experiences last Saturday evening in Silverthorne Hall at the Seminary. It was open to the students and the residents of the neighborhood. Sunday evening Dr. Grenfell gave his lecture to the guests of the Northfield Hotel in the Chateau.

Many years ago Dr. Grenfell, as a student, came in contact with D. L. Moody the evangelist, while the latter was carrying on one of his religious campaigns in Great Britain. Through this experience Dr. Grenfell determined to devote his life to missionary service.

In addition to making a complete survey of the stations of the International Grenfell Association, Sir Wilfred, who is one of the ablest and most daring mariners of northern waters, played an important part last summer in charting for the first time the treacherous rocky coast of Labrador. This marks the 40th year he has devoted to medical and social relief work among the Anglo-Saxon fishermen of the North. When he dropped anchor for the first time in a little harbor on the Labrador coast, he found that medical aid was limited to uncertain visits of mail-boat doctors during the brief summer months, and tuberculosis, beriberi, rickets, and other diseases ran their courses unchecked.

Today, through the help of many friends, Sir Wilfred has established hospitals, schools, orphanage centers for the distribution and supervision of handicraft work, and agriculture and animal husbandry stations. It is generally conceded that Dr. Grenfell's work is one of the greatest dramas of modern service.

The Central Labor Union of Boston are endeavoring to secure a reduction in telephone rates in New England and have asked the Interstate Commerce commission to sit with the state utilities department during the rest of the hearing. If the federal body refuses to take concurrent action, Marshall said he would file a separate petition instituting a new proceeding.

Planning For Northfield

Last summer the First Reformed Church of Kingston, N. Y., had a delegation of young people in attendance at the summer conference here in Northfield and when they returned they had a meeting to begin the fall season at which the various delegates gave their experiences and a verbal description of the Auditorium meeting—Sage Chapel services, Round Top Gatherings, afternoon pleasures, etc. Enthusiasm was engendered and one of the Sunday School classes led by Miss van Hovenberg in that church started the ball rolling for a larger delegation next year by announcing a "tea and sale" October 10th. The invitation was in a new folder and contained the following verse:

"These First Dutch girls will have a fair,
Things dainty and useful and lovely
And rare,
Puppies and purses and pillows
galore,
Novelties better than in any store.
Tea for the toppers; be generous, do,
Help us to Northfield—we depend on you."

Rev. Lucas Boeve is the Pastor of this large church and has a summer residence here in Mountain Park section.

Brotherhoods' Fall Meeting

The fall meeting of the Franklin County Federation of Church Brotherhoods and Men's clubs, will be held in the Baptist church, Shelburne Falls, on Tuesday evening, October 20, with supper at 6.30 p.m., served by the women of the Congregational and Baptist churches.

The election of officers and business meeting will open at 7.30 p.m., in the Baptist church.

The speaker will be George W. Miner of Westfield, whose subject will be, "The Good Old Times."

A gathering of over three hundred is expected, so it is very important that the President of each Brotherhood or Club notify the secretary, Rollin J. Farr, Harrison avenue, Greenfield not later than Sunday evening, October 18, the number that will be present from your church. President Willard A. Haskell will preside.

Psychiatrists Meet

The New England Society of Psychiatry held its fall meeting at the Brattleboro Retreat last week with Dr. J. A. Houston, former superintendent of the Northampton State hospital, presiding. The principal address was by Dr. William A. Bryan of the Worcester State hospital.

At this meeting Dr. Allen H. Wright of Northfield was elected a member.

Bernardston

Mrs. Ida Grant is ill and under the care of a nurse.

Mrs. Herbert Wilder has been visiting her sister in Keene, N. H.

Mrs. Alice Carsons has moved into the Messer tenement on South street.

Mrs. Harry Day has received word of the death of her cousin, Mrs. Herbert Glazier in Boston.

The body of Dr. Daniel Griffin of Greenfield was brought here for burial Thursday afternoon. When a young man Mr. Griffin lived in Bernardston.

Master William Shores is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Breen in Winchester. Mr. and Mrs. Breen visited their daughter, Mrs. Paul Shores recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses D. Munroe and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Munroe, a missionary in Egypt and son, George Munroe of Framingham have been guests of Rev. A. L. Truesdell and family this week.

Quarterly conference was conducted Sunday afternoon at 2.30 in Goodale United Church by Dr. G. A. Martin, the new district superintendent and former pastor of the Wesley church in Springfield.

The Senior class of Powers Institute is working hard to secure a trip to Washington. It is expected it will cost around $40 apiece. Each member of the class is to be responsible for one fifth of his expenses.

Mrs. Gertrude Hale was given a birthday party at her home Monday evening by her daughter, Mrs. Luman Barber. The evening was spent in cards. Refreshments were served, with a birthday cake decorated with tiny candies and flowers.

The class of 1934 of Powers Institute met Thursday for a business meeting. The following officers were elected: President, Miss Virginia Newton; vice president, Clarence Deane; secretary, Richard Gordon; treasurer, Miss Alice Schaufus; class supervisor, Miss Evelyn Etey.

On account of sickness and the rainy night, not as large a number as usual were present at the reception for the teachers given by the Grange, though a social and interesting entertainment was enjoyed by those attending. Community singing, a piano solo, played by Miss Dorothea Foster, a reading by Abel Parent and a short talk by Principal H. A. Bryant completed the program. The hall was trimmed in green and white crepe paper and flowers by Mrs. Edward Damon and Miss Doris Woodard. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

High School Notes

Copies of the play, "Apple Blossom Time," have been received by the Seniors and work has already been started under the supervision of Miss Matthews, preparatory to presenting it during the last part of November. Further news will be published concerning its progress at a later date.

A final report on the subscriptions to the Curtis Publishing Company periodicals cannot be given at this time. At the close of school Tuesday the totem pole showed the Queen Feathers in the lead with twenty-two subscriptions while the Reds have only six to their credit. The money this year goes to the Senior class to help them go to Washington next spring. The students have met with discouraging results in the campaign, with the plea of hard times. If the majority of townspeople would realize the educational value of a visit to Washington within the reach of every public school students in Northfield, there would be no complaints about the Seniors demanding so much financial help. Even though it is too late to take part in the magazine drive, it is not too late to take an active interest in the Washington trip as a whole.

The Problems of Democracy class has been discussing such topics as social problems of a small community, educational possibilities in various communities, and what can be done to further those advantages already found in the smaller towns. The discussions were concluded by the writing of an editorial by each member of the class. The one written by Victor Vaughan is printed below.

"The future of Northfield depends upon the youth of today. Therefore, why not keep our own young folks in town by giving them good clean entertainment? If this entertainment is not furnished, they are going to go to neighboring towns to get it. In doing this they lose interest in our own town and upon growing up go away from home.

"What can be done to keep this interest in Northfield? If a good, clean movie could be given once or twice a week, this would be one long step. Last year the Fortnightly Club gave a party to the eight grades and High School. This was very much appreciated by all. Another way is to have more active young people's societies such as the Boy and Girl Scouts, the young people's church societies and others. These groups gather together to discuss different problems and associate with other young people, thus learning and training for leadership."

"THE SPIRIT OF NOTRE DAME"

AT THE AUDITORIUM — BRATTLEBORO, VT.

If our Northfield "movie fans" want to enjoy a good evening's entertainment they should not fail to see Eddie Cantor's newest picture "In Palmy Days" at the Brattleboro Auditorium Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the coming week.

Eddie appears as an unwilling assistant to a gang of crooked fortune tellers and spiritualists, planning to wreck a bakery by installing Eddie as an efficiency expert. The story was written by Cantor, Morrie Ryskind and David Freedman. It is a rowdy comic strip kind of a yarn moving blithely from the phoney mystic's holy of holies to the splendor of a futuristic bakery, —one of those Rube Goldberg bakeries, "manned" by an imposing assemblage of Hollywood's most decorative femininity, —to the Zieffeldian opulence of a swimming pool scene, with a hundred prize bathing beauties competing with equally proud swans for attention, to a moonlit garden party.

Sharing the comedy honors with the beady-eyed and ebullient Eddie is elongated Charlotte Greenwood. Together, they lead their company through a striking gymnasium number.

Barbara ("Bobbie") Weeks, Goldwyn's newest and most-talked-of screen discovery, makes her screen debut at the head of the battalion of Hollywood's most beautiful girls and has the romantic lead in the story as well. Walter Catlett has a comedy bit, while important roles are played by Spencer Charters, Paul Page, Charles Middleton and Harry Woods.

Song hits in abundance are promised, the first of which is likely to be in Eddie's ditty, "Yes, Yes." Most of the songs are the work of those popular music masters, Con Conrad and Cliff Friend. Among them are "Bend Down, Sister," which has a kind of negro spiritual tenor, and "Goose Pimples," both of which command the able assistance of Miss Greenwood, and a strictly gag comedy song, "Dunk, Dunk, Dunk." "In Palmy Days" is a high class musical comedy.
